'Big Bull' sees years of double-digit stock gains

Jhunjhunwala says new money will only fuel further rise in key indices

nnual equity returns from Indian stocks will be about 5 percentage points on top of the economic growth of 7-10 per cent in coming years, according to billionaire investor Rakesh Ihunihunwala

Known locally as the country's Warren Buffett because of his penchant for equity investing, Jhunjhunwala is counting on the nation's potential for long-term growth and political stability to fuel further gains in the $3 trillion stock market that's already been hitting record after record this year.

His bets range from banks and health insurance — which he says will be boosted by the pandemic — to a broad consumer rally on the back of Prime Minister Narendra Modi's policies to give every Indian a home and access to clean water.

'We are in the middle of a bull phase which will last for a very, very long time," Jhunihunwala said in an interview earlier this month. "India will also look lucrative when the US Federal Reserve (Fed) begins to withdraw stimulus, but there will be short-term disruptions."

Long-time observers of Jhunjhunwala, also known as 'Big Bull' in India, wouldn't be surprised by his forecasts. Jhunihunwala's comments come as local shares have continued to climb despite a deadly wave of the coronavirus that hurt the real economy, rendering people jobless and denting consumption.

'The Reserve Bank and others were worried even when the Nifty was at 8,000 points," Jhunihunwala said in a video interview on June 3, referring to one of the country's key gauges that's now heading toward an unprecedented 16,000 level after having almost doubled since the end

Only two events would be significant enough to make him wary about India's prospects, he said. Political instability which he says is unlikely for now given his expectation that Modi will stay in power at least through 2029 - and any antagonism from India's nuclear-armed archrival Pakistan.

The Niftv50 index has risen more than 12 per cent so far in 2021, outperforming the MSCI Asia Pacific Index by about 9 percentage points. The country's gauge is trading at more than 20x its 12-month forward earnings estimates, versus a five-year average multiple of 18, data compiled by Bloomberg show.

"INDIA WILL ALSO LOOK LUCRATIVE WHEN THE US FEDERAL RESERVE BEGINS TO WITHDRAW STIMULUS, BUT THERE WILL BE SHORT-TERM DISRUPTIONS"

The Nifty gained as much as 0.6 per cent to 15,784 on Thursday, near an alltime high, while the Sensex climbed as much as 0.7 per cent to 52,658.4 as of 12.20

A record pace of gains, extreme breadth (95 per cent of stocks are above their 200day moving average) and penny-stock mania could point to a near-term pause in Indian equities, yet "we continue to be structurally positive for the long term," Bloomberg Intelligence strategists Gaurav Patankar and Nitin Chanduka wrote in a report earlier this week.

New money

New money will only fuel further gains in key indexes, Jhunjhunwala said, with a large photo of the BSE, Asia's oldest bourse, visible in the background. The Reserve Bank of India sees the region's third-largest economy expanding 9.5 per cent in the year that began April 1.

A custom index of the billionaire investor's top 20 stock holdings as of end-March has rallied about 85 per cent over the past year, according to exchange data on share-

BULLISH BETS

A custom index of Jhunjhunwala's top 20 holdings has beaten the Nifty50 holdings compiled by Bloomberg. That's versus a 50 per cent jump in the Nifty50 gauge during this period.

Compiled by BS Research Bureau

Jhunjhunwala has an estimated net worth of $4.6 billion, according to Forbes.

'Complete faith'

Jhunjhunwala also invests through his firm Rare Enterprises that derives its title from the first two letters of his name and that of his wife, Rekha Jhunjhunwala. He declined to comment on individual investments citing local regulations and Rare's own policies.

One of his early successes was CRISIL. which he first bought in 2002 at ₹150 apiece. S&P Global offered ₹775 a share in 2005 to gain control of the Indian firm. CRISIL is now at around ₹2,882, and Jhunjhunwala, along with his wife, owned about 5.5 per cent as of March-end, data compiled by Bloomberg show.

Jhunjhunwala wasn't always a bull. He said he made ₹40 crore ($5.4 million) shorting stocks during the country's first billion-dollar financial scandal, which erupted during the heady days of economic liberalisation in the early 1990s.

Back then, a broker, Harshad Mehta, had funneled money borrowed from banks into equities on the BSE, pushing up stock prices. When the $2 billion fraud was discovered, it caused a market crash. The Securities and Exchange Board of India was created in the aftermath of the scandal, and millions of millennials have since roared in as retail investors.

"I have complete faith in markets," Jhunjhunwala said. "All my money is put into equities. I haven't invested anywhere other than the equity markets." BLOOMBERG

Ensure you get continuity benefits when porting your insurance policy

Don't select new policy based on price alone; look for old one's shortcomings

SANJAY KUMAR SINGH

In the wake of the pandemic, many customers are taking a hard look at their health insurance policies. They are porting their policies if they find them unsatisfactory.

For instance, the online insurance platform Policybazaar earlier saw an average 7-8 per cent of customers who wished to port. Between March and May that figure shot up to 15 per cent.

Plugging policy loopholes

People who had bought policies several years ago with a sum insured of ₹1-2 lakh realised during the pandemic how inadequate that was. "Of the customers who wish to port, 80 per cent say they want an increased sum insured," says Amit Chhabra, head-health business, Policybazaar.com.

A cap on room rent and ICU charges and co-payment requirement are other reasons as customers prefer policies without restrictions. A poor claim experience also acts as a trigger. "Customers are looking for service efficiency from their insurer," says S Prakash, managing director, Star Health and Allied Insurance. Pricing is another driver. "When people cross the 40-45 or 45-50 age band, they usually see a steep jump in premium, which prompts them to look for a policy that offers better value for money,' says Nayan Goswami, headgeneral insurance. Sana

Insurance Brokers Some companies have started covering the cost of consumables, like PPE kits. "During the pandemic, this cost rose to 15-20 per cent of the bill, so customers want policies that compensate this too," says Chhabra. Home treatment cover, restoration of sum insured, and coverage for robotic and bariatric surgery are other features that customers look for. "When they discover that their current policy does not offer these latest features, they want to shift," says Indraneel Chatterjee, cofounder. Renewbuy.com.

Run these checks

Do not select the new insurer merely

PREMIUMS ARE NOT EXORBITANT FOR 35-45 AGE BRACKET

Senior citizens will have to shell out more Monthly premiums (₹) for ₹1 crore sum insured ■ 35 yrs ■ 45 yrs ■ 60 yrs

Source: Policybazaar

1 Crore Sum Insured

1 Crore Super Saver Young Star Gold All premium rates are for individual males policy features as well. Check the waiting period for pre-existing diseases (PEDs) and ailment-specific waiting periods. Avoid policies with sub-limits and co-payments. Chatterjee suggests checking the insurer's list of network hospitals. Buy adequate sum insured. A ₹1 crore family floater, for a 35-yearold husband and wife, can be obtained for a monthly premium of ₹1,228-2,622 insurer's claim settlement ratio. Your preferred hospital should be in the (see table for individual premiums).

Get continuity benefit

When shifting to a new policy, make sure there is no compromise on continuity benefit. Suppose a person had bought a policy in 2015 and develops a cardiac condition in 2018, and decides to port in 2019. The new insurer should not treat his cardiac condition as a PED. "Any disease contracted after a customer has bought a policy should not be treated as a PED by the new insurer," says Prakash.

The waiting period already served should be accounted for. "Suppose you had a disease when you bought the first policy and you have served the entire four-year waiting period. Now it should be covered by the new insurer. If you have served three years. you should only have to serve for one year in the new policy," says Goswami.

Someone who has a policy should inform his insurer whenever he contracts a new ailment. "Get any new condition mentioned in your policy. This will ensure that when you port, the second insurer does not treat it as a new disease," says Chhabra.

Should you port?

Your existing policy offers a few benefits. One is the right of renewability. "Even if you have made a massive claim, the current insurer has to cover you next year. When you port, the insurer will underwrite, and it could turn down your proposal if it does not consider you a good risk," savs Goswami.

There is also the incontestability clause. Once you have been with an insurer for eight years, your claim cannot be denied, even if it is found that you did not disclose a PED at the time of purchase.

Shift only if policy features are abysmal or service quality is consistently poor.

A person in good health will find it easy to port. Those who have developed some conditions may find it harder.

Begin early

Apply at least 60 days before the date of renewal of your current policy, so that there is enough time for the new insurer to do the underwriting and give a decision." If you apply late and the new insurer declines your proposal, you won't have time to apply to another," says Goswami. Applying early will also mean you get the time to go through the new policy conditions and decide if they are acceptable.
